

Banner Data Warehouse

GET YOUR DATA WORKING FOR YOU, NOT AGAINST YOU

Today, colleges, universities, and foundations face increasing pressures to report and account for how their people, programs, and assets perform. In an environment of heightened accountability you need a single authoritative data source that everyone across your institution can rely on to respond effectively to different constituencies and work more strategically to improve performance. With a proven business intelligence platform, designed specifically for higher education, you can count on a consistent, authoritative data source to support a more comprehensive view of institutional performance. Ellucian's Banner Data Warehouse provides the foundation you need to understand organizational performance, manage the dynamic environment in which you operate, and use data more effectively to achieve your vision and goals.

A SINGLE, INSTITUTION-WIDE VERSION OF THE TRUTH

Responding effectively to the constituencies you serve and working more strategically to improve performance requires the participation and collaboration of everyone across your campus. Banner Data Warehouse provides the common ground that your institution needs to answer key questions across a wide range of institutional processes, identify and anticipate trends, and work as one institution to promote change. Understanding and prioritizing how to move your institution forward requires a clear picture of institutional performance—one based in accurate and consistent data. Banner Data Warehouse presents data using familiar business terms and definitions. Users can understand how data is related and apply pre-built business logic to it, promoting a shared understanding across your community. That ability to be “on the same page” helps everyone at your institution design and execute more effective strategies to monitor performance, measure outcomes, and improve productivity.
