

Ellucian Academic Operations

Optimizing instructional design for online delivery

Today's uncertain environment requires that academic institutions seamlessly transition quality instruction to online or hybrid delivery methods. Although this task may seem daunting, the Ellucian Academic Operations team has proven experience providing curricular, programmatic, and design support to rapidly deploy online courses through customized faculty development. With a strong emphasis on student engagement and course quality, we coach your faculty in translating their subject matter expertise and teaching excellence to the online environment.

Learning Experience Courses

Our Ellucian Learning Experience (ELEX) courses equip faculty to develop and deliver engaging online content with confidence. We offer a range of courses designed to meet your institution's timelines and needs. All courses feature synchronous weekly training sessions, practical examples, and exercises that guide faculty in mastering the technologies and strategies necessary to design relevant, authentic online learning experiences. Everything is built into your LMS, and everything can be accessed on-demand following the course to enable continuous improvement and lasting impact.
